9. What are the specific goals of the grant? (The final grant proposal should include the goals and the measurable objectives.)

Goal 1: Neighborhood stakeholders, including youth and families are mobilized to change community norms and partner to support reducing and mitigating the effects of children's exposure to violence.

Goal 2: Children and families at risk for exposure to violence are served with effective resources that prevent exposure and promote resiliency.

Goal 3: Children exposed to violence are served through a coordinated continuum of effective service delivery encompassing prevention, intervention, treatment and response.

Goal 4: The Shelby County Defending Childhood place-based model is supported, replicated, and sustained through system change, policy reform, and organizational development.

Goal 5: Children and families at risk for exposure to violence are served by diverse professionals and community stakeholders who make timely and appropriate referrals of children to prevent exposure and promote resiliency

10. How will the project be evaluated to determine that the goals are being met?

An outcomes evaluation will be conducted by an independent evaluator along with using DOJ designed Dashboard of indicators for children's involvement in and exposure to violence from intervention and comparison groups.

11. What bench marks will be utilized to determine that the goals are being met?

- Establishment of localized oversight and mechanisms for community engagement;
- Development of a comprehensive awareness and social marketing campaign;
- Number of youth and family leaders engaged in the DCI;
- Number of families trained to increase positive parenting;
- Number of families enrolled in high quality prevention programs;
- Number of resources aligned and leveraged with violence prevention initiatives;
- Number of agency leaders and front line staff trained for delivering services to children exposed to violence;
- Establish a coordinated "no wrong door" system for identification, triage and referral for children exposed to violence for appropriate levels of service;
- Establish a shared infrastructure for service delivery coordination and monitoring;
- Number of grass roots and faith based provider networks engaged to strengthen the community's ability to serve children exposed to violence;

- Number of first reporters and first responders trained (child welfare, law enforcement, school personnel, community based organizations, community leaders, will encourage initial responders to interact with children in the school and community so that they routinely recognize children exposed to or at risk for exposure to violence and provide them with trauma-informed care or trauma focused services and resources.
- Establish a DCI Steering Committee within Operation Safe Community;
- Strengthen supportive policy and funding improvements and private and public sectors; and
- Develop and implement replication plan for project model in hot spots throughout the city.

12. Who will conduct the evaluation?

Phase I of the evaluation was completed by the Center for Court Innovation, a national evaluation team, contracted by the Department of Justice, and the Strategic City Solutions and Data for Good will serve as the local evaluation consultants.

13. What will happen to the program after it ends?

The project is being executed based on an integrated service delivery model so that at the conclusion of the grant services and strategies will be replicable and institutionalized within Operation Safe Community 2 as part of the Youth Violence Prevention Plan and Coordinated Response to Domestic Violence. By infusing more resources into applying best practice response elements in Shelby County, scaling up best practice elements already initiated in Phase I of the DCI-NOVA initiative, we will increase access to trauma focused resources by children and families through building capacity and strengthening relationships with first responder professional and community members.
